Paul's Spirituality:
Suffering, Transformation and Joy
in his Letter to the Philippians

by

Laura Hogan

Monday, May 16

An in-depth look at the "Christ hymn" (Phil 2:6-11) as a window to elements in Paul's own spirituality: relationship, a paradoxical perspective, and a perception of divine effectiveness.

Tuesday, May 24

An exploration of how Paul sees himself living out the pattern set in the Christ hymn and urges the Philippians to do the same, modeling and teaching a spirituality to support a life conformed to Jesus Christ.

Tuesday, May 31

Philippians, the Letter of Joy: The call to joy, how Paul might be calling us to live today. How do we experience Joy in the Lord?
